

CALL FOR TENDERS

CONSULTANT

The First Nations Education Council (FNEC) is looking for a policy analyst to conduct research activities on rights and positions defended by First Nations in relation to existing education legislation and policies at the international, national, regional and local level.

Our association

The First Nations Education Council (FNEC) was created in 1985. It was born of the desire of the First Nations to assert their rights and assume their responsibility with respect to their own education and to ensure that the best education possible is provided to their members, by their members. The education provided must not destroy the culture or roots of the Nations, but rather develop and nurture them.

Our mission

The FNEC is an association of First Nations and communities whose common purpose is to achieve full jurisdiction over their education. This will be accomplished through mutual collaboration and by providing mandates to the Education Secretariat in Assembly to support, promote and defend the interests and actions of members in regards to matters of education, while respecting their unique cultural identities and common beliefs, and while promoting their languages, values and traditions.

Mandate

Two days a week from October to December 2018

Primarily consists of:

- collecting education related data and statistics to support analyses and recommendations on objective data;
- creating and maintaining an up-to-date quantitative and qualitative database on social and financial aspects to confirm or refute working assumptions;
- analyzing the collected data to support senior management in the decision-making process;
- conducting impact analyses of policies and programs in an attempt to limit, lessen or offset any negative effects;
- making recommendations to senior management on the organization's strategic operations (programs, policies, negotiations, committees, etc.);
- drafting documents on behalf of senior management.

Contact the FNEC's human resources (ressourceshumaines@cepn-fnec.com) to submit a tender, or for further information.

This call for tenders will remain open until October 19, 2018, 4:00 p.m.
